Although not required for employment in Phlebotomy, as a student of this approved Phlebotomy program you have the opportunity to sit for the National Healthcareer Association's (NHA) Certified Phlebotomy Technician (CPT) Exam.

In addition to completing this approved Phlebotomy Technician program, a student must complete successful venipunctures and successful skin punctures in class to sit for the NHA Phlebotomy certification exam.

Additionally, the NHA requires that you have a high school diploma or a GED equivalent.

After passing the certification exam, certification is valid for two years. It is required to complete 5 annual Continuing Education credits through the NHA's Annual Continuing Education Program.

There is also an annual renewal fee per certification of $79.50. For additional information please visit the NHA at www.NHANOW.com or call 800-499-9092.

Note: There is no outside externship rotation included with this program.
